FOR MANUAL TRAINING.

In the issue of the Journal-Miner on Friday appeared a statement as to the finances and further plans to establish a manual training department in our public school system this coming fall.

As will be seen, they have a snug little sum, but not sufficient to warrant them in going ahead and securing the services of a proficient teacher.

The Journal-Miner feels sure that the public will back these women sufficiently to allow them to bring to fruition their efforts in this line.

The Monday club stands sponsor for the work and has been successful in creating a great deal of interest in the matter as is shown by the fact that all of the donations made were entirely unsolicited and a number of others have expressed their intention to assist although not yet quite ready to state amounts.

For many years our system of education has been entirely one-sided, that of head culture exclusively, leaving hand culture entirely undeveloped. But owing to the failures of so large a part of the public school pupils in our land, a few years ago a movement was started with the idea of developing the hand as well as the head. The idea has grown marvelous and wherever adopted has been a marked success. For instance, how can we tell or judge a man, for what he can tell or do?

Psychology tells us that two of the child's primary instincts are to construct and to decorate. Instruction in the arts builds upon these instincts, constructive agencies are the natural means through which a child grows by self expression.

Manual training develops habits of cleanliness, order, system, perseverance and tends to develop the child in all directions. Indeed a child trained only in book learning is only half trained.

But further and beyond all these considerations is the strengthening of their moral nature.

To a very large part of our boys there comes a period in their lives when they are more or less lacking in self direction and self respect. At this time many quit school and do a large part of their drift from one thing to another until they find themselves either in a reform school or even worse.

Perhaps if our own five Prescott boys who are now in such difficulty could have had advantage of this constructive work they might have been kept in school and tided over their uncertain period. Who can tell?

Many boys at this time in life do not care for literary work, in fact they are born "short" in this line—and no fault of theirs—but with the advantages derived from manual training, they might have been held in school until they should have gone to themselves and a goodly number might have completed their education. But even suppose they did not go on with their literary work—would they have acquired sufficient skill with their hands to have made a honest living and not tided away their time and lives?

It is the experience of many manual training teachers that the irrespirable, dull boy is often more alert, more accurate and precise in construction work than the boy quick in his studies. And who shall say which is better educated?

Manual training has been the means of holding more boys in school than all other means combined.

The very fact that the U. S. government in its efforts to civilize the Filipinos has first established manual training schools, and even gone to the great expense of shipping machinery and tools from the United States there proves the logic of this argument. If it is good for the little Filipinos it is no also good for the American boy? Make him a self supporting citizen and in ninety nine cases out of 100 he will be a self respecting and good citizen. It is said that a trained, skilled laborer is seldom a county charge.

The ladies of this committee will be very grateful for any contributions of whatever size and we bespeak for them the hearty co-operation of Prescott citizens.

The Arizona Enterprise, the original Hearst booster in Arizona, quotes Col. Wilson as favoring the election of Hearst as president. Well, not that probably, but favoring a delegation from Arizona to the St. Louis convention instructed for Hearst. Of course the Colonel knows full well that Hearst does not stand a ghost of a show of being nominated and even if he were nominated he would not stand any show of election, and to pay an imaginary debt of gratitude, the Colonel thinks Arizona Democrats should go to St. Louis pledged to the support of Hearst. Marcus Aurelius Smith is just as pronounced in his opposition to Hearst as Wilson is in his favor. Mark wants to draw the salary as delegate to congress the next term. Will Arizona democracy support Hearst in the national convention and nominate Mark Smith for delegate? Just as inconsistent acts have been performed by it before and may be again.

CAPTURE OF GERONIMO.

The Oklahoma State Democrat in a recent issue in speaking of the condition of old Geronimo, who lives ten miles from Lawton, in Indian territory, says that "Geronimo contradicts the statement of General Miles that the general captured him. The old warrior says that somewhere up in the mountains when he was on the war-path, two white men came to him and told him General Miles wanted to see him. The men accompanied him to the camp of the general and he was made a prisoner. Geronimo says he thinks it was in Arizona, the territory of his birth. Anyway, he says, it is in the mountains."

Geronimo's recollection concerning his alleged capture is perfectly correct. General Miles played false with both the Indians and the government in that transaction.

Prior to General Miles being given command of the department of Arizona General Crook followed Geronimo and his band into Mexico where he had a fight with them. After the fight General Crook held Geronimo and his band, going alone to the Indian camp, at which Geronimo, who feared arrest under a territorial law charging him with murder, agreed to follow the United States soldiers to the railroad, provided General Crook would agree to transport them away from the territory. This General Crook could not promise, but agreed to confer with the administration on the subject.

Geronimo and his band of hostiles followed General Crook and his command to within a day's march of the railroad station and when Crook made the request for the transportation of the Indians and the territory the Washington authorities declined the request. The Indians immediately dispersed, as it was one of General Crook's characteristics that he would never break faith, even with an Indian.

Crook was relieved of the command of the department, succeeded by Miles who knew all the particulars concerning General Crook's transactions with Geronimo, and the refusal of the government to permit their being shipped out of the territory, but he sent couriers out, as indicated by Geronimo above, getting them to come in to see him, and immediately shipped them away.

For his bravery in capturing Geronimo in this way he was presented with a gold sword, by citizens of the southern part of the territory.

Speaking of captures made by Miles, the Tucson Star credits him with the capture of Jeff Davis, an ex-slave of the civil war. While every one knows he had nothing to do with the capture of Jeff Davis, he is entitled to as much credit for that as he is for the capture of Geronimo, as Davis was turned over to his custody after being captured.

Manual training develops habits of cleanliness, order, system, perseverance and tends to develop the child in all directions. Indeed a child trained only in book learning is only half trained.

But further and beyond all these considerations is the strengthening of their moral nature.

MINING NEWS

OF HARRISBURG

Great Activity Still Prevails on Desert.

Eastern Capital Being Attracted to That Section For Investment. Good Opportunities.

Harrisburg, Ariz., May 10.—(Special Correspondence.)—Captain Atkinson, a Chicago capitalist, passed through this place a few days since with two four horse teams loaded with machinery for the dry washing country in the vicinity of Quartzite, which section is attracting considerable attention from parties looking for profitable dry placer grounds.

C. J. Stone, a mining man, representing eastern people, has been investigating the mining resources of this section for the past two weeks and says the mining industry has a fine showing throughout the desert section.

A party of eastern men have just been making an inspection of the properties belonging to M. E. Joseph, near Cunningham Pass, in the Huacavars with a view of purchase. The Bell Crown group is being explored by some Pennsylvania people and it is rumored this fine group will soon change hands. The property has an exceptional fine showing of free milling ore. The Old Harqua Hala mines are being put in shape for extensive operation in the near future. Peter Fitzsimmons, who owns a fine property south of the old Bonanza is erecting an experimental smelter furnace to work his lead carbonate ore and has secured very sanguine success. J. A. Reed and the Devine brothers are working a fine group of copper mines twenty five miles east from here, and have a large shipment of ore on the dumps said to average more than $100 per ton in gold and copper.

Ward and Bond are developing their claims north of Tenihachi Pass and have some very rich ore.

J. B. Martin and Norton Marsh are doing some development work on their Hector group near the Old Desert mine and are meeting with pleasing success having struck some very high grade ore. This property is situated on the surveyed line of the new railroad twenty miles west from this place.

W. S. Wilson, the desert poet, is still taking out fine ore from his property located two miles north from the old Bonanza mine.

C. J. Quillen and wife left for the east last week to visit relatives and take in the World's Fair.

A. J. Scales left for Colorado to be gone about sixty days. Mr. Scales has extensive mining interests hereabouts.

R. W. Kimball came in from the Huacavars yesterday with samples of very high grade copper ore which also carries considerable gold.

The two Charleys, Johnson and Reed, are now at the Harqua Hala doing some development work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Martin with their two little girls made a trip to the Bonanza camp yesterday and a family picnic day of the trip returning home late in the evening.

Tom Blair has completed the sinking of a well on his property and has a pumping plant on the ground which he will erect for irrigating his ranch and water stock.

After months of experimenting the chemists of the department of agriculture are about ready to announce that they have hit upon a preparation guaranteed to annihilate the germ of typhoid fever, says a Washington dispatch to the New York World.

The formula will not be made public for some weeks, but the department has concluded that it has hit the germ and that the mortality in this country due to typhoid will within the next six months be a thing of the past. Just what the preparation is cannot be learned. It was stated in a New York paper that it was the "Bordeaux mixture" of chemicals, but this was officially denied.

The department will say only that the solution is in the hands of the government; that its nature will be made known within a short time; that it can be used in every city and town in the country, and that it will perform the work of which it is designed.

Every One Knows Him.

Did you ever notice that the man who does the most of the kicking is the least injured or interested. The fellow who is always finding complaint about the mails at the post office is in luck to get a circular once a month. The kicker who says the telephone service is rotten never paid a penny toward the support of the plant. The hypocrite who grows because his feet get cold in church never furnished even a splinter to kindle a fire with. The crank who goes to the opera house and yells the show is rotten never gets a ticket for the performance. The Year Closing.

The literature section of the Monday club met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. S. Norviel as leader, and continued the study of the third act of Henry VIII. Mrs. W. M. Claypool was elected chairman of this section for the next year, and Mrs. J. B. Hocker secretary.

On Tuesday afternoon the art section met and continued the regular course. Mrs. C. H. B. Carter was elected chairman and Miss Theresa Fredericks secretary. The music section has not yet elected its officers for the next year. Each meeting will have only one more section during the present year.

RECEPTION AT

YAVAPAI CLUB

Brilliant Social Function Given Yesterday.

Quartette of Prescott's Prominent Society Ladies Receive Their Friends at Club Rooms.

The elegant rooms of the Yavapai club were the scene yesterday afternoon of one of the most brilliant social functions Prescott has witnessed for many a day. It was a reception given by four of Prescott's prominent society ladies. Mrs. William C. Bashford, Mrs. James M. Watts, Mrs. Egbert W. Dutcher and Mrs. Arthur W. Edwards.

Mrs. F. M. Murphy of Prescott and Mrs. G. W. Vickers, of Phoenix, assisted the hostesses in receiving the guests, while Mrs. R. H. Burdette, Mrs. J. J. Hewling and Mrs. J. C. Herndon assisted in their entertainment.

Misses Nellie Drake, Olive Fisher, Theresa Fredericks, Helen Burnister, and Emma Dutcher were ushers for the occasion.

The ladies were received by the hostesses in the ladies' reception room, which was beautifully decorated with roses and potted plants, with the rich draperies, rugs and furniture combined to produce a charming effect.

After being presented the guests passed into the grand hall room which had been decorated with cut flowers, ferns and potted plants and the floor covered with handsome and costly oriental rugs, until it presented a perfect fairyland appearance. Nothing that could be suggested to enhance the beauty and gorgeousness of the place was overlooked, and when the room was filled with the scores of ladies, handsomely gowned, a scene was presented that baffled description.

At the head of the stairs was a large punch bowl where a most delicious fruit punch was served the guests during the afternoon.

An orchestra, composed of Prof. Smith on the violin and Charles Baker on the piano, discoursed music during the afternoon in the spacious ball room where chairs were provided permitting the ladies to enjoy the beautiful strains. These gentlemen are both highly accomplished musicians, and their selections were greatly appreciated by the ladies. Manager Pellow did not overlook the banquet room and the decorations and the arrangements of the tables there were in keeping with the artistic taste displayed in other parts of the building used for the reception.

In the center of the hall was a large table, while grouped around it in a circle were smaller ones, the capacity for all being twenty four guests. Around the room were potted plants, while the tables themselves were decorated with beautiful white roses.

An elegant luncheon was served in the banquet hall, the menu of which was in keeping with the service given, reflected credit as usual on Manager R. E. Pellow and his competent corps of assistants.

The afternoon throughout was certainly a most enjoyable one, the only thing to mar the perfect enjoyment being the bereavement of which recently bereaved Mrs. J. M. Watts, one of the hostesses, in the death of her mother, which of course prevented her from being present to greet and mingle with the guests.

Manual Training Schools.

The time of year draws near when it becomes necessary for the committee on manual training to make some definite plans with reference to securing a competent man to introduce this work in the public schools next fall. There have been a number of excellent applications, and as the best teachers are engaged early, it is deemed advisable to act very soon in this matter.

The question that confronts the committee is one of finance. The efforts of the Monday club and this committee have been very enthusiastically and generously responded to by the people generally, and because of this, they feel that the publicity of the work will be secured in the printed statement below.

Receipts from cut flower sale $8.10
Posters donated by Miss Brandon 10.25
Flower sale 15.65
St. Valentine's ball 126.00
Donations—
Free reading room board 10.00
Mrs. Wallace Fairbanks 10.00
Mrs. A. O. Brodie 10.00
Mrs. J. E. Phelps 10.00
Mrs. R. N. Fredericks 50.00
Mrs. F. M. Murphy 50.00
Total $78.00

These donations have all been entirely unsolicited, and are an index to the interest shown in the matter. The committee prefers not to make any personal solicitations, but thinks that there are probably a number of persons who would be glad to make donations to help along the work, and to this end subsequent reports will be given in our papers for several days.

The committee does not feel authorized to take further action until assured of at least the teacher's salary. Once this is secured they can easily take the next step in the matter.

In closing, the committee wishes to express its hearty thanks for the generous responses that have followed their efforts and hopes to be able to add this much needed department to our public school system this September.

Any person desiring to assist in the work can communicate with any member of the following committee:

Mrs. R. R. Coleman,
Mrs. W. M. Claypool,
Mrs. O. A. Heala,
Mrs. J. L. Munde,
Mrs. J. C. Herndon,
Mrs. B. D. Billingshurst.

Mining on Lynx Creek.

Lynx creek, May 11.—There is considerable work going on near Lynx creek crossing at the present time. Two companies are installing pumping plants and building storage dams to wash the rich gravel found in the hills several hundred feet above the creek bed.

We have also a company here whose sole duty is to jump mining claims, while the miners are at work elsewhere, covering over the work and claiming nothing had ever been done. They live in caves and prospect at night. The miners here think it is too cold for their operations in this locality and have decided it would be better for them to hunt a warmer climate for their health.

The Baltic mine owned by S. M. Hoblett in Walker mining district, east of the Buzzard group about one mile, shows a good body of ore in all the workings and will average eighteen inches in thickness throughout and will average about fifteen dollars in gold per ton. The development is quite extensive, over 800 feet of work having been completed. A better looking property is hard to find. Samples of ore on the dump show free gold to the eye with copper pyrites sprinkled through the ore, also galena ore which carries free gold. The vein is nearly four feet in width and all the vein matter carries free gold. The indications show for themselves that this property properly managed would be a good producer and worth investigation. J. B.

Will Visit Property.

A party of very prominent gentlemen arrived from the east this morning to look over the property of the Bradshaw Mountain Copper Mining and Smelting company, including the mines and smelter.

The party is in charge of Chas. E. Shober, who is interested in the company, and who comes from the main office, 25 Broad street, New York City. The other members of the party are A. M. Sloan, of Greensburg, Pa., W. J. McDewitt, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chas. H. Bradley, also of Pittsburgh. These latter gentlemen represent almost unlimited capital and they have come to look over the situation personally for their own satisfaction and for their friends.

Mr. Shober has visited the property on previous occasions and knows something of its magnitude. The party will go out to the mines tomorrow morning.
